Dear Valued Customer,

Clow will be implementing a new List Price effective May 1, 2009 that will supersede our current List Price. It will be available on our website @ www.clowwater.com. We will not be printing new price books, but feel free to print copies from our website.

This change was implemented to provide a more rational pricing structure across our entire product offering from a manufacturer's perspective. Although there are item by item changes, the most significant change is with larger diameter product segments where prices have been significantly decreased.

In addition, we want to reaffirm our commitment to support Domestic specifications and American manufacturing jobs, Domestic multipliers will also be adjusted. The new multipliers for your specific market areas will be communicated by your local sales person.

All annual municipal bid contracts will be honored per the terms of the contract. Jobs quoted prior to today's announcement will be honored through May 31, 2009.

Please contact your local Clow sales representative if you have special concerns or conditions that need to be considered.

We thank you for your business and look forward to serving your future demands.
